CONDUCTOR'S WELCOME—CHERYL WOLDSETH

WELCOME!

Fashions fade – but style is forever.

In our third of four Picnic & Pops concerts celebrating the 50th anniversary of 1967's Summer of Love, the Nevada County Concert Band once again opens shop to provide everyone a free musical makeover with BIG HAIR! From mustaches to teased-up coiffures, I'm sure you'll enjoy our musical clips that refer to hair, grooming, and flair.

There are three special extensions to today's program. Please welcome the dancers from Patria Insurgente to perform "Mexican Hat Dance." Cameron Kopf will transform from tuba player to harpist, providing natural beauty on "Black Is the Color of my True Love's Hair." And 2017 Jerry Foote Scholarship recipient Miles Mason will complete his scholarship requirement by shining as drum soloist in the jazz number "Cute." You can read more about the dancers and the scholarship winner elsewhere in this program.

I'm sure you'll flip over our references to the Broadway show "Hair," the Disney film "Tangled" (about Rapunzel), the impeccably groomed James Bond, and the musical romantic comedy "Grease." We even highlight the 8/21/2017 eclipse! And please visit Tanya (Hairway to Heaven) to gussy up your look today – FREE – at her booth next to the Band Store.

Remember: the higher the hair, the closer to heaven!

A WORD FROM THE NCCBAND EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Some fun facts that you should know about the NCCBand:

- Our music library has over 1700 titles, many of which are rare original pieces written and printed in the 1800s.
- Our youngest members are aged 12 and the oldest are in their 80s.
- Our Ludwig vibraphone is older than all of them, as it was made in 1921 and is in its 96th year of use.
- There are five married couples in our band, including one couple that perform in the same section.
- The miner in the cart of our official logo is named Miner Mike. Since he has served us so well, we have given him a promotion to major so that now he is known as Major Miner Mike, musical pun intended.
- One of our tuba players toured North America with the national company of Andrew Lloyd Weber's "Phantom of the Opera" for over 12 years. He was playing French horn at the time and recently switched over to tuba.
- One of our current French Horn players is a professional flutist who once performed with James Galway.
- We are blessed with having several former or current teachers in the band, and we thank them for their commitment to shaping the future.
- An anonymous artist installed two beautifully detailed images of hummingbirds on the stone walls of the band shell. We have no idea how long they have been there.
- Two members of our executive committee were drum majors in high school.
- We are a "one-stop shop" for all your professional needs as we have one surgeon, several lawyers, two realtors, a banker, and a certified public accountant among our members.
- We love it when people dance in front of the band, so don't be shy. Get up and boogie!

Visit us online at <http://NCCB.org> regularly, and while you are there, you can sign up for updates about our seasons. We now have a "DONATE" button to make your financial support easier than ever to our non-profit organization.

JERRY FOOTE SCHOLARSHIP RECIPIENT 2017

Miles Mason, Drums

My drumming career started in kindergarten, when my parents signed me up for a drum line program that a remarkably kind woman started in Foresthill. That lasted about one year, and after it was over, I forgot about most of it. Then I entered fourth grade, and the middle school band asked me to join their program. My dad had me playing soccer, and, to put it kindly, I did not like soccer at all. My first response was, "If I join the band, will it get me out of soccer?" My mom said that it would, and once she decides something there is little my dad can do to stop it. So I joined the band. I originally had no plans of continuing and was only in it to get out of sports. But, well, I fell in love with drumming. I started taking outside lessons, and a new teacher Tom Candlish took over as the band director. He taught me a lot of what I know today, and I met a lot of great people in that band. But my drumming really went into overdrive when I joined the Nevada County Concert Band in seventh grade. I met my current teacher, John Basa, and began taking lessons from him when I entered high school. And, well, now I'm here, with the great privilege of receiving the Jerry Foote scholarship. I'm currently a senior at Ghidotti Early College High School, and I plan on attending the University of California at San Diego as a Political Science and Accounting major (with a minor in Music).

OUR ROOTS

Nevada County’s love affair with music started at the very beginning of our county’s existence. As people poured in for the great Gold Rush of 1849, they brought their own traditions and music. In Europe and the eastern U.S., homegrown volunteer bands were a large part of a town’s identity and source of pride. The Cornish people who populated this area of the Gold Country were particularly proud of their musical roots and heritage. Practically every mine, club, school, and service organization in Nevada County had a band in the early days. In 1861, the Grass Valley Band was formed to combine the many groups, and our current band directly traces its roots to this one. Despite this consolidation, many other bands continued to flourish and played for thrilled audiences at dances, celebrations, parades, and other social events. These included bands formed in Nevada City, Sierra City, North Bloomfield, North Columbia, and the little town of Washington.

In the 20th century, the Grass Valley Band extended its reach and played at state fairs as well as the famous 1915 Panama-Pacific Exhibition in San Francisco. During that period, one of its musicians, B.C. Bridges, composed a piece especially for the band that you will hear today—the “1915 March.” In the 1920s, the Grass Valley Band was led by Harold J. George, who continued as its leader for over 40 years, and was also conductor for the Cornish Choir. Saturday night concerts during the warm summer months at the Grass Valley Park bandstand were a tradition during this time. Today, we carry on this local tradition of free music at Pioneer Park in Nevada City and other venues throughout the county.

Read more about the NCCBand’s history and heritage on our website.
